

What's Haute: San Francisco

Meadowood is well-known for being the home to Auction Napa Valley each June. But throughout the year it serves as a second home for discerning travelers in search of a private, beautiful setting, healthful activities, and the height of wine and food experiences. The Restaurant is Napa Valley's only Michelin two-star dining venue (Chef Christopher Kostow is one of the featured Auction chefs) and the property has a master sommelier, Gilles de Chambure, MS, in residence to arrange wine experiences for those seeking a special level of knowledge and access. One of the best kept secrets at Meadowood, however, is the Estate Lodge. While the property offers a wide selection of guest rooms and suites, the Estate Lodge is our favorite for spacious, relaxed country luxury. French doors and sweeping views invite the property's natural beauty indoors. Elegant, cottage-style décor and furnishings, including sisal carpets covered by thick wool rugs, are beautiful yet relaxed. A light, neutral color palette of off-white and cream with accents of gold, brown, and pale blue complete the tranquil setting. This is the perfect setting for two, three, or four couples to get away and enjoy one another's company by day and complete privacy by night.
